Zest of Hope Takes Flight

Hope and Zest make for better health and a sense of purpose in life. Our inspiration comes from birds who live every day in flight, foraging and interacting with each other and their environment. The Lemon tree symbolizes freshness and purity.

Our table brings you the Zest of Lemons, surrounded by greens and birds bearing messages of hope and well wishes.

Dreams Take Flight

As children, we were fearless dreamers, exploring worlds of wonder with boundless imagination. Tonight, under the theme "Flights of Fancy," we invite you to reconnect with that inner child, to dare to dream once more. Our table, aptly named "Dreams Take Flight" is a tribute to the dreams that know no limits. Adorned with whimsical elements and touches of magic, it serves as a canvas for your imagination to soar.

As you embark on this journey of self-discovery and possibility, allow yourself to escape into a world where anything is possible. Together, we raise our glasses to the dreamers, the believers, and the ones who refuse to be bound by the constraints of reality. May this evening be a celebration of imagination, a testament to the power of dreams, and a reminder that, no matter where life takes us, the journey is always worth it. So, let's spread our wings and soar to new heights, together. And after tonight, may we carry this spirit forward, allowing our dreams to take flight in our lives.

Pretty Bird

Our centerpiece and "greeter" is a handsome, antique male peacock, gathered from India in the late 19th century, as a Victorian ornithological specimen. He is surrounded by colors and trophies that graced the tables of the well-to-do traveler to far flung ports in Europe as well as the far, far east. The table is trimmed in silk satin, as well as feathers and trims, once only available on the famed and coveted Silk Road. We hope that "Pretty Bird" ruffles the imagination of this year's guests into "Flights of Fancy" that all will enjoy.

Drayton Campbell Weldon for Vivere Interior Design

Dans les Nuages

"Dans les nuages" (In the clouds), where hot air balloons paint the sky with beautiful colors and whimsical shapes. They embody the broader theme of "Flights of Fancy," enticing the imagination and beckoning individuals to embark on daring adventures through the skies. Hot air balloons symbolize a sense of freedom, liberation from earthly constraints, and the pursuit of extraordinary experiences. In the realm of "dans les nuages," these floating marvels inspire individuals to transcend the ordinary, encouraging them to embrace the whimsy of life and explore the limitless possibilities that lie beyond the horizon. Just as the Montgolfier brothers' pioneering spirit led to the first manned hot air balloon flight in 1783 in France, the theme of "dans les nuages" resonated deeply with me to create an enchanting table, which will transport people to a fanciful place for the evening. With the spectacle of hot air balloons dancing among the clouds, the essence of this theme is captured, inviting all to indulge in flights of fancy!

Secret Garden

"Secret Garden" is the theme of our table this year. Our centerpiece features a stunning pedestal and urn filled with botanicals and silk butterflies taking "flight." It might be the most elegant secret garden you've ever stumbled upon!

Regency Singerie

A tablescape homage to 'singerie' - the whimsical depiction of monkeys in human activity - taken from the imaginative flights of fancy employed in European 18th & 19th century European decorative arts.

Harkening back to the orientalist splendor of The Prince Regent's sumptuous entertainments at The Royal Pavilion at Brighton, our table is adorned with embroidered silks and linens, hand painted plates, glittering mother of pearl cutlery, and silver accoutrements. The table's crowning glory is a monumental centerpiece from the workshop of Paul Storr - Regency England's greatest silversmith - generously loaned from the collection of Philip Norkeliunas of Gracious Tables.

English Enchantment

This table is inspired by an English garden. It evokes timeless beauty and the natural charm of the English countryside through the use of soft florals, greens, and natural materials. The table is draped with Basset McNab's Wrentham fabric. The fabric boasts a delicate floral pattern in tones of green, reminiscent of the blossoms that grace the tranquil corners of an English garden. Handmade marble plates by Christopher Spitzmiller add a modern touch while remaining true to the organic nature of the table. The chairs are dressed in Stout stripes and trims. The trimmings echo the colors found in the fabrics, creating a harmonious blend of materials. Beautiful natural woven shades from Maison Maison provide a candlelight alternative for the table and lush but simple blooms create the feel of the floral arrangements found in country manor houses.

Fête du Flamant

Birds have always been a source of profound inspiration for me. Their feathers boast vibrant, wild combinations, artfully blended with striking touches that accentuate their beaks and long, slender legs. They embody true beauty and grace in the natural world. For "Fête du Flamant," I sought to capture the vivacious pinks, oranges, and whites, with delicate touches of black to infuse strength and glamour into my tablescape. The elegant curves of their necks and long, slender legs served as the perfect muse for this occasion. Special thanks to Scully & Scully for the tabletop, James Robinson for the flatware, and Brock Lownes for the floral arrangements.

IMAGINARI

The inspiration for the table this year was born out of a collaboration with Imaginari, an insect museum located in Tribeca, New York. The stunning insect wings, colors, patterns and textures found in the museum served as the driving force behind the design and references to insects can be spotted throughout the design.

Free Fallin

Flowers always take my breath away. They seem as though they are designed by nature purposely to bring pure joy and beauty into our complicated world. Precious stones and flowers are the most colorful natural arrangements on our planet.

What could be more freeing than to see a floating flower act like a butterfly. Imagine a world where flowers flew through the air daily, giving off beautiful smells, perfect movements, brushing past us like flying carpets. Who wouldn't want to free fall surrounded by a silky swarm of lush and vibrant petals.

Homage to Maria Callas

The inspiration behind the table design for Lenox Hill Neighborhood House is an homage to Maria Callas, the most renowned and influential opera singer of the 20th century.

Maria Callas was an artistic force of nature. Her personal and professional style is that of drama and fantasy, captivating and seducing her audience through emotion and intrigue on and off the stage. The table design brings to life the drama and persona of Maria as seen through the color palette, china, glassware, silverware and floral motifs all inspired by her operas as well as her personal style.

Nesting Blooms

Nesting Blooms is a colorful tableau of vibrant hues created by Matt and Heather French of French & French Interiors. The table setting showcases the design duo's signature aesthetic sensibility of playfulness, whimsy, and folksy charm. The inspiration behind this design comes from the colorful palette of spring, the rustic charm of Santa Fe, New Mexico, and the duo's Southern roots.

A custom brass structure at the heart of the design supports a whimsical nest-like arrangement adorned with spring florals, masterfully created by florist Jennifer Figge of Figge Floral Studio. The structure stands above a terracotta chicken folk-art planter, a tribute to the couple's beloved Santa Fe. The planter is surrounded by a profusion of spring blooms, echoing the vibrant hues of New Mexico's landscape. The layered tablecloths and hand-painted taper candlesticks are graced with floral motifs of tulips and roses. The plates, crafted by Portugal's finest artisans, feature intricate designs that add a worldly flair to the table setting. Southern hospitality meets Santa Fe's vibrant energy against the backdrop of spring's timeless allure in this spectacular table design from French & French Interiors.

Miriam Weinreb Lissak of MWL Design Group

Fantastical Journey

Our MWL Design Group's tabletop design "Fantastical Journey" was inspired directly by the remarkable 130-year journey of Lenox Hill Neighborhood House. When it began as a free kindergarten classroom in 1894, might they have imagined the possibilities of the wide breadth of life changing services and programs now offered. The neighbors that this wonderful organization serves each have their dreams and aspirations of the transforming possibilities for a better, healthy, educated and vibrant life. Our fanciful and illusory design, created in our minds is strange and wonderful, festive and fun, fantastical! The fabulous original artwork featured as the rotating base of our centerpiece displays a "Fantastical Journey" through life depicting transformations and possibilities.

Carol Connett, the artist, notes that this piece is her daydream on possibilities. "It's the way it usually starts for me; it emerges in my mind. I often do not know what it is about but I need to paint it. After a few days of drawing I understood the image. My version of heaven is populated with sea creatures and land animals and a monk with the soul of a moth. My late Boarder Collie is now a monk on the back of the bird. I am there as well. Like the old tale where a Stork delivers us at birth, maybe another great bird returns us in the end. The great Pelican bird flies in over heaven. Fasten your seat belts! In the future maybe I will ride on the back of the great bird ready for what comes next."

Miriam Weinreb Lissak, principal of MWL Design Group is honored to collaborate with Lenox Hill Neighborhood House and its transformative journey.

Picnic in Provence

Inspired by an enchanted hot air balloon flight over the poppy fields in Provence, our tabletop is designed to delight. The tablecloth features a whimsical print with vines that intertwine in a pattern reminiscent of birds swirling and swooping. The open structure of the balloon takes center stage. Flowers that bloom in late spring follow the curvature of the gore skyward. The reds and blues with lavender, pink, yellow and green accents conjure up images of Provence in springtime. Robert Ventolo of Crain & Ventolo Associates

Free Your Mind and Experience the Feeling of Flying

For this year's Lenox Hill Neighborhood House Gala themed "Flights of Fancy," Robert Ventolo's table design draws inspiration from the concept of flight within the serene realm of yoga practice. Just as yoga encourages us to persevere through challenges, the table's ambiance will embody tranquility and grace, resonating with the theme of flight as a metaphor for inner strength and spiritual elevation. The color palette, primarily soft and peaceful oranges, reflects the harmonious energy associated with yoga and the awakening of the senses. At the centerpiece of the table, a large painted Buddha statue will exude a sense of calm and mindfulness, further enhancing the meditative atmosphere. This design not only captures the essence of flight and fancy but also symbolizes the transformative journey towards inner peace and resilience, aligning perfectly with Lenox Hill Neighborhood House's initiatives for movement and wellness, especially for children. The table will serve as a serene oasis amidst the gala, inviting guests to embrace the spirit of flight through tranquility and contemplation.

The Gerald Kellogg Legacy

Inspired by the late Gerald Kellogg, a renaissance man who would help everyone with the strength of an athlete, who worked as an engineer driving world record railroad trains from Steam Engines to Powerful Locomotive Gas Fueled Box car shipping, who flew his own Cessna Plane, founded several businesses, established a powerful car collection of 1960-70 era V-8s classics, worked his 150-acre farm, while mastering the skills of all his endeavors.

LENOX HILL NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE
SINCE 1894

Nestled on his 150-acre farm, will be a new inspiration of a SENIOR SPA to change the way we inspire seniors to thrive while living productive, healthy, and happy lives.

Sally Kellogg, NCIDQ, daughter of Gerald, a visionary whose background in Architecture and Credentialed Interior Designer, International Real Estate Agent and Consultant has multiple businesses. Kellogg Interior Design, Kellogg's General Store, A-List Design, LLC, and Kellogg Estate, LLC dedicated to creating environments people look forward to being in.

Gerald's original farm is being transformed into KELLOGG ESTATE as he had hoped, looking out over his land during his 96th year, so people will have an environment encouraging a bright and joyous future filled with natural satisfaction in every aspect of daily living.

Providing Farm to table meals grown on the property, 130 residents will dine on culinary delights, take strolls in the woods and fields, and participate in yoga, cross country skiing, hiking trails, bicycling tours, gymnastics, and educational activities with scholars from around the world. Artists capture the natural beauty of changing seasons year-round. Nearby airports are available for family visits, while a well-stocked garage will supply drivers, and antique cars for a "drive through the country" offering destinations such as Niagara Falls, Letchworth Park, Watkin's Glenn, Kinzua Dam or Cuba Lake. Local golf courses, VA & conservation clubs, a bowling alley, roller rink are local to the Village of Franklinville, NY, the historical home to many dairy farmers. Amish families travel by horse and buggy, while re-establishing beautiful rolling fields of fresh produce, and handmade products. Residents will be able to create and display their own products to be sold in one of the many workshop buildings establishing a retail business destination.

We leave no one behind with our mission to offer beautiful scenery in relaxing oversized living spaces, up to date technology, and amenities to keep both the mind and body strong.

Breaking ground in 2024, we hope to open the facility by Memorial Day 2025.

We are honored to participate in the Lenox Hill Neighborhood House Spring Gala at Cipriani 42nd Street, NYC. The farm-to-table mission has a delicious commonality to ours. Check in regularly at www.kelloggestate.com for progress reports on our community.

Jardin des Papillons

Inspired by a past trip to Paris with her daughter, Sarah saw each element of the tablescape as an opportunity to evoke the same sense of wonder and whimsy she had experienced in the butterfly garden at Parc Floral in the 12th Arrondissement. From the choice of flowers resembling those in the garden to the inclusion of delicate butterfly motifs on the linens, every detail was carefully considered to reflect the grace and elegance of those magnificent creatures. Through her design, Sarah hoped to share the joy and inspiration she found in the world of Parisian butterflies, inviting others to experience the magic for themselves.

Verde Custom Flowers

Buzz

Our table from Verde Custom Flowers is based on bee hives, with stacked hives to create a base. Flowers and accessories create the illusion that bees are flying and going in and out of the hive.

Sappho's Way

In times of pride and joy we turn to poetry, lyrics, and flowers to express our happiness. Sappho, the tenth muse, is the Greek lyric poet who inspires us on an ethereal journey of wanderlust through ferns leading us to a rose garden of a beloved family. Tonight I celebrate Lenox Hill Neighborhood House with my beautiful family. This table is designed and set to celebrate where we gather to enjoy the ordinary and extraordinary relationships we share in our lives.

My hope is that as you peruse this tablescape, with its grandeur and intentional details, you feel the power and desire of a flight filled with grace and promise, exemplified through Sappho's poetry, Mother Nature, and her bounty.

Thank you for joining.
